Today's Internet threats have evolved in both the volume and complexity of attacks compared to just a few years ago. Early on, Kaspersky Lab recognized that these rapid changes were unfolding. Our virus experts believed that a new standard for protection needed to be created – one that would combat even the most sophisticated computer threats at a remarkable rate of speed.

Our software is built upon this standard, resulting in premium protection that provides the most robust line of defense against malware at every level of the corporate network. Kaspersky is ranked #1 worldwide in virus and spyware detection, and independent tests confirm that Kaspersky is easily the fastest to respond to virus outbreaks. When a virus enters our Lab, it is typically disarmed in less than 20 minutes and delivered to you automatically every hour. This means you are never more than minutes away from the latest cure directly from the Lab.

Kaspersky technology is integrated into the products of more than 100 leading security, networking, messaging, and IT companies worldwide, protecting over 200 million users every day.

For the best-of-breed solution to protect your IT infrastructure, choose quality protection from Kaspersky Lab.
